

Hello,

Are you looking for a proofreader, editor, writer, or publisher to help move your project along?

With a little exploration, we may discover a mutually beneficial opportunity.

Although employed full-time, I am taking on freelance work that can be done outside of usual business hours.

I'm seeking projects that have a need for my skills in writing, proofreading, editing, or publishing.

Here are some personal tidbits for you to provide you with some background:

- Master of Arts, English from Fordham University and BA from Indiana University
- Well-Traveled... 11 countries and 30+ US States
- Writing, editing, and proofreading work experience
- Digital work experience helping small and medium sized companies
- Radio disc jockey
- Collegiate choral performer
- Co-founder, Producer and Director of International Youth Theater
- People usually think I'm funny, especially after they've had a few drinks

If you have a need for my skills, please call, text, or email. Thank you very much for your time and your consideration.

Respectfully,

Joseph S. Kintzel
Joseph S. Kintzel